WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1815.

The following written message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Coles, his Secretary:

To the Senate of the United States:

I have received from the American Commissioners a treaty of peace and amity between his Britannic Majesty and the United States of America, signed by those Commissioners, and by the Commissioners of his Britannic

Majesty, at Ghent, on the 24th of December, 1814. The termination of hostilities depends upon the time of the ratification of the treaty by both parties. I lose no time, therefore, in submitting the treaty to the Senate, for their advice and approbation.

I transmit, also, a letter from the American Commissioners, which accompanied the treaty.

JAMES MADISON.

February 15th, 1815.

The message, together with the treaty and documents accompanying the same, were read.

On motion,

The treaty was read the second time, by unanimous consent, and considered as in Committee of the Whole; and no amendment having been proposed, the President reported it to the House accordingly. Whereupon,

Mr. Smith submitted the following motion for consideration:

Resolved, (two-thirds of the Senators present concurring therein,) That the Senate do advise and consent to the ratification of the treaty of peace and amity between the United States of America and his Britannic Majesty, concluded on the 24th day of December, 1814, at Ghent.

On motion by Mr. King,

Resolved, That the President of the United States be, and he is hereby, requested to cause to be laid before the Senate, all the instructions given to the Envoys at Ghent, the correspondence between the said Envoys and the Department of State, and the correspondence and protocols of conferences between the said Envoys and the Ministers of his Britannic Majesty, during the negotiation at Ghent, which have not been heretofore communicated to the Senate.

On motion,

Leave was given to furnish the Secretary of State with a copy of the last mentioned treaty.

Agreeably to the order of the day, the Senate resumed, as in Committee of the Whole, the consideration of the articles of agreement and capitulation between the United States and the Creek Indians, together with the resolution of ratification, reported thereto by the select committee; and,

On motion by Mr. Anderson,

Ordered, That the further consideration thereof be postponed.
